State Corn Crop Placed At 196 Million Bushels

ESTIMATE INCREASED 4 MILLION

By the Associated Press
The final crop report of the year estimated Nebraska's total corn crop for 1954 at 196 million bushels, an increase of 4,188,000 bushels over the forecast of a month ago.

This final report, with most of the state's corn already in the crib, gave further evidence of the Nebraska corn crop's remarkable recovery from a summer drought and heat wave which had sent forecasts tumbling as low as 171,000,000 bushels Aug. 1. This was in sharp contrast with the forecast of 233 million bushels a month earlier.

Still Below 1953
The final estimate gives Nebraska a corn crop still some eight million bushels below the 1953 figure and some 33 million bushels off the 1943-1952 average.

The Nebraska winter wheat estimate was 61,200,000 bushels, or 20 bushels per acre, a dip of some nine million bushels below last year. Nebraska's 1953 winter wheat crop was 65,065,000 bushels and the 10-year average was 74,187,000 bushels. The per bushel average compares with an average of 22.5 bushels and an average for the 10-year period of 19.4 bushels.

The wheat crop was the 14th largest of record. The corn crop, however, dipped to the 34th highest of record.

The total wheat crop, including spring wheat was 61,823,000 or 19.8 bushels per acre from 3,107,000 acres.

Crop production for the nation, the Agriculture Department said, was the fifth largest on record.

This kitty belonging to the W. J. Hinel residence of Beatrice acted fast when she saw the pretty ornaments hanging on the Christmas tree. She wasn't in the house two minutes before she had a purple ball knocked off. But was she puzzled when she found a purple cat inside. ## Lincoln Stays In Cellar Of 4-City Safety Match

Cellar dwelling Lincoln pushed across 170 demerits Friday to strike out of the four-city safety driving contest, which ended at midnight Friday.

The final total for Lincoln stood at 780 demerits.

Final reports showed that St. Joseph, Mo., who had been leading all the way, had sewed up first place with only 70 demerits reported.

Springfield, Mo., counted 180 demerits and Topeka, Kan., reported 310.

But Lincolinites received some encouraging news in their safety defeat. The total number of accidents for the five day contest was 27 less than for a corresponding period last week.

Police reported that 80 accidents were registered in the city for a five day period last week compared to 53 accidents this week.

The number includes property damage accidents under $25 which were not counted as demerits.

Crash Kills Miller, Son And Pilots

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Frederick C. Miller, prominent Milwaukee brewer and sports figure, died Friday night of burns and other injuries received several hours earlier in the crash of a private plane here. His son and the pilot and co-pilot were killed in the crash.

Miller, 48, died at Johnston Emergency Hospital where he was taken with critical injuries after the twin-engine plane plunged to the ground and exploded into flames.

His son, Fred Miller Jr., 20, and Joseph and Paul Laird, pilot and co-pilot of the plane, died in the flames.

On Holiday Trip
They had just taken off on a holiday hunting trip to Canada when the plane sputtered over the field and plunged to the ground.

Miller, captain of the 1928 Notre Dame football squad, a leader of the move to bring the Boston Braves to Milwaukee, and president of the Miller Brewing Co. here, suffered burns over much of his body, a fractured right leg and possible internal injuries. He was thrown clear of the plane, the others were trapped in it.

A resident of the area, near whose home the plane crashed, found the elder Miller lying outside the plane.

Apartment Burns; No One Injured

Fire broke out in a nine-family apartment house at 1738 M early Friday night, but it was discovered and doused in time to prevent injury.

The fire was found in an apartment where no one was home but a neighboring tenant on the second floor smelled smoke coming from under the door and called the fire department.

Smoke damage and some fire damage resulted to the apartment. Fire officials said that the blaze was started by a short in the refrigerator motor.

THIRD TIME PROVES CHARM

POLK, Neb. (AP) — For Elaine Niberry, a retired missionary from Venezuela, the number "three" is a lucky one.

After trying on Dec. 3 and again on Dec. 7 to marry Peter Ascanion she finally succeeded. Ascanion's arrival in the United States from Costa Rica had been held up by red tape.

The South American and his wife plan to reside in Madera, Calif., where he'll be a pastor of a Spanish-Mexican Evangelical Church.

Singer Has Surgery

Hammar skjold Hopes To See Chou Before 1955

Red China Premier 'Agrees' ... To Peiping Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold agreed Friday to direct talks in Peiping with Red China's Chou En-lai on "pertinent questions." He will urge Chou to release 11 American aviators held by Communist China as spies.

Hammarskjold suggested the face-to-face conference last Friday after the U.N. Assembly voted 47-5 for him to use "unremitting efforts" to effect the release of the aviators and the repatriation of hundreds of U.N. personnel, still held in China.

In his reply Friday morning, the Chinese Communist Premier said the Peiping position on the aviators had been set forth in a cable to Hammarskjold which indicated Chou regards the case as closed. Then Chou added:

"In the interest of peace and relaxation of international tension, I am prepared to receive you in our capital, Peiping, to discuss with you pertinent questions. We welcome you to China. Please decide for yourself the date of your visit and inform us of your decision."

Hammarskjold was awakened shortly before 5 a.m. by a telephone call from his executive assistant, Andrew W. Cordier, who gave him the first news of the Chou answer. This was an Associated Press dispatch reporting the Peiping broadcast.

When Chou's official cable was received later, Hammarskjold lost no time in acknowledging it and saying:

"I look forward to the opportunity of meeting you. In view of necessary practical arrangements, I am not yet in a position to fix a date for the arrival nor can I say definitely who will come with me. I may get an opportunity for first contact concerning some of these practical arrangements with your ambassador in Stockholm."

The Stockholm trip was arranged weeks ago for him to take the seat in the Swedish Academy of Letters formerly held by his late father, the first time a son has succeeded his parent on that high body.

Going to Stockholm Hammarskjold already had taken advantage of this trip to request a conference during the weekend in Stockholm with the Red Chinese ambassador in an attempt to work out details of the trip to Peiping, which from the start he had been confident would be made.

It will be the first meeting for Hammarskjold and Chou. Both were in Geneva last summer during the conference on Korea but they did not meet.

Now that he has Chou's reply,

New $235,000 Tifereth Israel Synagogue

Significance Of Synagogue Reviewed By Rabbi Cohen

The religious significance of the synagogue in the history of the Jewish people was reviewed Friday night as Rabbi Gerson D. Cohen of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, New York, delivered the dedicatory sermon at Tifereth Israel Synagogue.

"The synagogue has been the vehicle of individual responsibility in the fulfillment of religious values," he said.

Rabbi Cohen said the basic concept of the synagogue—individual worship—has been "developed and adopted by all the major religions of the world."

"The measure of success of a religious edifice is the extent to which it affects peoples' lives—at home, at work, and at play."

Furthermore, he contended, the edifice is judged by the extent to which it is capable of passing its values on to future generations.

The dedicatory service, at which Mrs. Frank Court of St. Paul's Methodist Church and C. Vin White of First Presbyterian Church delivered addresses, was the first of a three-day observance.

Saturday morning, youth of the synagogue will conduct services, followed by Mincha services in the afternoon. A dedication dance will be held Saturday evening in the recreation room.

Open house followed by a dedication banquet Sunday will terminate the celebration of the new synagogue at 32nd and Sheridan.

Rabbi Harold I. Stern is spiritual leader of the congregation.

BOARD TO RELEASE FAVORABLE REPORTS

The Board of Control Friday went on the offensive in defending itself from attacks on operations of state institutions as a result of investigations by citizens' committees appointed by Gov. Robert Crosby. The reports found little favorable.

Chairman W. H. Diers stated that in a few days he will make public a large file of correspondence that has voluntarily been sent to the board praising operations. The information comes from guards and convicts as the bulk of the opposition came from convicts and ex-guards.

The opening gun of Diers releases came with a letter from an employee at the Women's Reformatory at York. It was criticized as being too severe with inmates.

The employee stated that the girls are allowed to buy Sunday papers if they wish and were rather amused by the reference to the "no lip-stick" rule. She said inmates have nice rooms and pleasant evenings and that many have written back on release expressing gratitude for the benefits of their training.

She asserted that some now hold responsible positions and others are happily married with families. The employee said she had been employed at the institution 10 years.

Also released were expressions of gratitude in verse by the girls in both the east and west halls for television sets provided by the board.

VANDAL DAMAGE CLOSES HENDERSON HIGH SCHOOL

HENDERSON, Neb. (AP)—Classes were dismissed at Henderson High School Friday after vandals broke into the building causing extensive damage to some classrooms, the work-shop and the kitchen.

Superintendent Allen M. Friesen estimated damage to the new $450,000 building, which was put into use last spring, at about $1,000. The break-in was discovered Friday morning by the head cook, Mrs. Dor Buller.

Sheriff Lew Ekart said the principal damage resulted from eggs being broken and the contents thrown over areas of the building. The intruders broke into the school's workshop, obtaining tools there to bore holes in the doors to classrooms.

In the kitchen, investigators found that holes had been punched in canned goods and the contents strewn around. Meat and other foods found in the kitchen also were scattered about.

The superintendent's office was ransacked and contents of unlocked vault were scattered about, but a preliminary check showed that nothing was missing.

'Fascist' Groups

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee Friday issued a sharp condemnation of "neo-Fascist and hate groups" in the United States.

It asked the Justice Department to prosecute the National Renaissance Party whose activities it described as "clearly subversive and un-American," and the semi-monthly publication Common Sense, printed in Union, N. J.

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—Several batteries of the new American long-range rocket Honest John, capable of carrying atomic warheads, have arrived in Europe, U.S. 7th Army headquarters announced.

Crews arrived with them, the announcement said. The number of the batteries and their destination was not disclosed but it was believed they would be stationed in the big Allied defense arsenal west of the Rhine River.

It was the latest type of new weapon to be assigned to NATO forces in Europe.

Furry Cited

BOSTON (INS)—Associate Professor Wendell Hinkle Furry, 47, of Harvard University, and Leon Judah Kamin, 26, former teacher fellow there, reluctant witnesses before the McCarthy Communist probes, were indicted Friday by the federal grand jury on contempt charges.

The indictment charged them with contempt of the U.S. Senate in refusing to answer certain questions put to them by Sen. McCarthy at a session of his investigating subcommittee in Boston last Jan. 15.

Jenner's Views

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), chairman of the Red-hunting Senate Internal Security subcommittee, said Friday nothing would be gained by banning college debates on whether this country should recognize Red China.

Six Years, Six Senators As Mrs. Abel Resigns

...Effective On Dec. 31

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

For the sixth time in six years, Nebraska will have on Jan. 1 a new U.S. Senator in the seat for which the late Sen. Kenneth Wherry was elected. Three of them have been by appointment of Gov. Robert Crosby.

The latest is Rep. Carl Curtis of Minden who has been elected to the coming six-year term. This political move was made possible by the resignation of Mrs. Hazel Abel who was elected to the "peewee term" of two months at the last election in an effort to provide seniority in the Senate to Curtis.

Mails Resignation
Mrs. Abel mailed her resignation to Gov. Crosby to be effective at the close of business on Dec. 31. He prepared appointment papers for Curtis effective Jan. 1. The new session of Congress to which Curtis was elected starts on Jan. 3.

The move is an attempt to let Curtis enter the Senate earlier than others elected in November to give him seniority in committee appointments. Because of their both having served equal lengths of time in the House, the move was aimed particularly at Sen.-elect Tom Martin of Iowa.

"This is another generous gesture from Mrs. Abel of the sort that has been characteristic of her," Gov. Crosby said.

Trip To Europe
Mrs. Abel plans to leave Saturday noon from New York with her daughter, Alice, for a several weeks trip to Europe. She will not return until after the new Congress convenes.

Following the death of Sen. Wherry in 1951, Gov. Val Peterson named Fred Seaton, Hastings publisher to his seat until the next election when Sen. Dwight Griswold was elected for the unexpired term.

With the death of Griswold last April, Gov. Crosby appointed the first woman senator from this state, Mrs. Eva Bowring, to serve

Meet York Carrier Roger Stafford

"Good service to regular customers is the key to more business," Lincoln Star Carrier Roger Stafford of York, Neb., says.

Roger substantiates this formula to success with the fact he has doubled the number of customers on his route since he took it over last April.

Roger is in the fifth grade at Edison School in York. He likes school and especially arithmetic. A participant in many different sports, he currently is playing on the Edison Grade School basketball team.

Roger's hobby is collecting picture postcards from the places he visits on trips with his parents.

A "Weebelos" Scout, Roger is a member of Troop 172 and has been in Scout work two and a half years.

He has earned a number of prizes by securing new customers on his Star route the past nine months. From his regular profits every four weeks he has saved $40 since he started his route.

Roger's parents heartily approve his newspaper carrying activities and believe that his gain is twofold. While he is earning regular profits, he is learning the value of money.

Experience he is gaining in modern business procedures will be valuable to him during his entire life.

Highway Advisory Group May Stay

While there has been some talk of a bill to abolish the state highway advisory commission which was authorized at the last session, Sen. Dwight Burney, Hartington, said Friday the move was premature.

"There has been some good accomplished by the highway commission and it probably would be advisable to wait a couple of more years," he said, "give them a chance to iron out the kinks before making up our minds as to whether abolish it or not."

Sen. John Aulenkamp of Julian said, "I can't see that they have

Validity Of 'Hot Cargo' Clause Is Upheld

NLRB Ruling Resulted From Case At York

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today upheld the validity of "hot cargo" clauses in labor contracts. But it ruled that unions cannot enforce such clauses if an employer repudiates his agreement.

It was a 3-2 decision with three different sets of views.

The "hot cargo" clause is an agreement by an employer that his workers may refuse to handle freight or other materials going to or from another employer with whom the union has a labor dispute.

Such clauses came into use after Congress sought through the Taft-Hartley law to prohibit secondary boycotts. That law prohibits a union from seeking to get a second employer's workers to refuse to handle materials for a primary employer with whom the union has a dispute.

'Loophole' In Law
Unions, in asking "hot cargo" clauses, have taken a stand that the T-H law did not bar an agreement with a secondary employer against the primary employer.

NLRB Chairman Guy Farmer said in Friday's decision upholding the clauses that this is an obvious "loophole" in the law that is up to Congress to remedy.

The ruling came in a case involving McAllister Transfer Inc., York, Neb., trucking firm, which the AFL Teamster's Union tried to unionize. The union sought to bring pressure on McAllister by enforcing "hot cargo" contract clauses it had with three other trucking firms—Union Freightways of Omaha, Watson Bros. Transportation Co. and Red Ball Transfer Co., both of Lincoln, Neb.

The three firms in effect repudiated the "hot cargo" clauses. Rather than boycotting McAllister as they had proposed to do under the clauses, they posted notices urging their employees to continue relaying freight to McAllister.

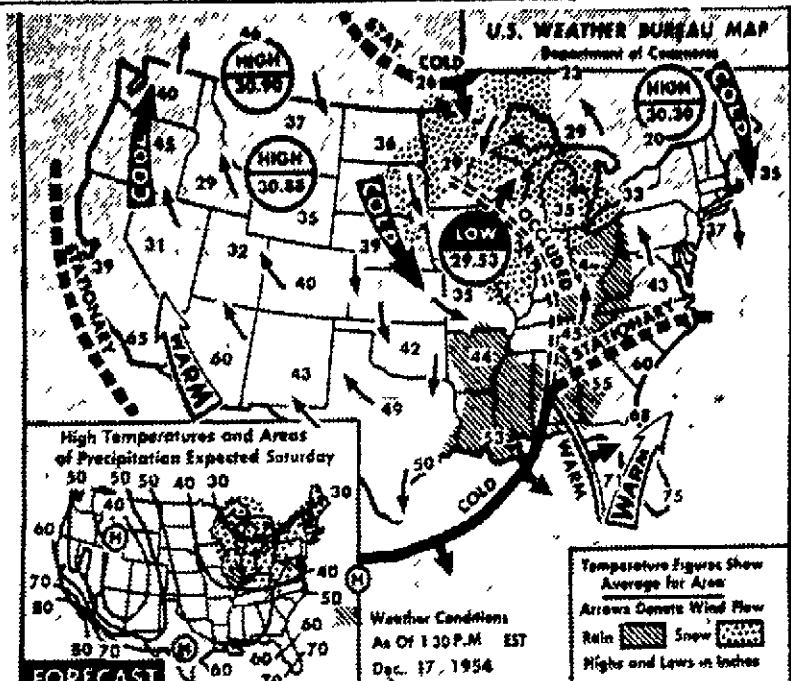

Chairman Farmer, as the fifth member, ruled with McDuck and Peterson that the clauses are valid, but took the view that the Teamsters Union committed an illegal secondary boycott by refusing to handle freight for McAllister after the three other employers directed that their employees continue the McAllister work.

On that stand, Farmer ruled with Beeson and Rodgers that the Teamsters Union had committed an illegal boycott in the McAllister case.

Costs Per Pupil In Nebraska Schools Range From $130-$246

School costs this year are expected to range from $130 to $246 per pupil during the current school year, a survey of several of Nebraska's larger cities reveals. The study was made and reported by the Nebraska Citizens Council, a non-profit tax research agency.

The estimated spending per pupil to operate schools in nine cities checked ranged from $130.90 per pupil in South Sioux City to $246.40 per pupil in Beatrice.

The figures covered normal expenditures such as for salaries and operation of properties but did not include capital outlay for new buildings or land sites.

Estimated expenditures per pupil in other cities included Grand Island $205.61, Scottsbluff $206.40, Fremont $165.60, Kearney $212.75, Nebraska City $220.35, Blair $223, and Falls City $219.80.

"We should avoid," the council commented in its report, "jumping to the conclusion that a high per pupil expenditure for education means that a school system is uneconomical or extravagant."

However, a relatively high expenditure for maintenance of plant or excessive charges for interest on warrants, for instance, "may serve as a signal that this particular item of expenditure should be looked into by interested citizens."

The Omaha and Lincoln situations will be covered in a later report, the council said.

The study supplied these figures on the percentage of each dollar spent expected to go for instructional services (teachers' salaries): Beatrice 69 per cent, Grand Island 74.9, Scottsbluff 77.4, Fremont 81.8, Kearney 75.4, Nebraska City 72.7, Blair 72.1, Falls City 67.1, and South Sioux City 76.2.

Oats—68,265,000 bushels or 29 bushels per acre from 2,354,000 acres compared with a 65,994,000 bushel crop in 1953 and a 60,837,000 bushel average for the 10-year period.

Barley—4,500,000 bushels, or 18 bushels per acre from 250,000 acres, compared with a 3,920,000 bushel crop in 1953 and a 3,980,000 bushel average.

Rye—1,500,000 bushels, or 10 bushels per acre from 150,000 acres, compared with a crop of 1,224,000 in 1953 and an average of 2,854,000 bushels.

Dry beans—1,226,000 bushels of 100 pounds each from 77,000 acres or 1700 bushels per acre. This compares with a crop of 1,258,000 bushels in 1953 and an average crop of 1,018,000 bushels for the 10-year period. The 1953 average was 58,000.

Sugar beets—294,000 tons or 13.1 tons per acre from 60,000 acres, compared with a 1953 crop of 780,000 tons and an average of 677,000 tons. The average crop is 12.7 tons.

Sorghum grains—13,416,000 bushels or 26 bushels per acre from 516,000 acres.

52.5 Bu. Corn Crop For Iowa

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa corn crop this year totaled 540,015,000 bushels on a yield of 52.5 bushels per acre, the Iowa Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Friday.

The service in its final estimate of the crop for the year said 1954 production was 9 per cent below the 581,145,000 bushels produced on Iowa farms in 1953, and also slightly below the 10-year average production.

OMAHA (AP)—No inquest is scheduled in the death of Mrs. Myrtle Christensen, 68, Omaha, who died of burns suffered when her clothing caught fire.

This Question Of Seniority

If at least a handful of Nebraskans have been unable to smile over the discussion that Mrs. Hazel Abel, serving a short term in the United States Senate to which she was elected by the votes of her fellow Nebraskans, should resign in order to give Senator-elect Carl Curtis seniority in committee assignments, then we have lost our sense of humor completely.

Seniority is one of those things akin to the weather.

Everybody talks about it but no one seems to do much about it. When we suggest no one seems to do anything about it, there must be one exception. Any member of the Senate, old in years, long in office, or anyone in the Senate, a newcomer to that body, filled with ambition, never voluntarily misses a trick when it comes to acquiring seniority over his fellow senators. In the day-by-day labors of the Senate, the institution known as seniority, there is reason to believe, on occasions hampers rather than helps the Senate in the discharge of its duties.

Members of the Senate treasure seniority. Through its dubious magic, they land on committees and advance toward the top posts as chairmen of those committees regardless of whether or not they are particularly qualified or fitted for the posts to which they aspire. They may be slowed down by long years of service, by age, by physical infirmities, but through the grace of seniority their right to committee assignments and to an increasing voice in committee deliberations is determined.

Cornell's Safety Answer

Credit President Eisenhower with making a brave assault in behalf of greater traffic safety. He mobilized the nation for S-D (Safety Day) and had a sound plan of attack. But it must be admitted that while some citizens bravely went forward on that day and refrained from accidents the greater number went about banging up each other as though it were just another day.

The President—the general—has a good touch for calculated warfare. But this civilian Battle of the Autos is something else again.

One is inclined to go along with the research

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Another step—an important one—in the long-drawn-out efforts looking towards a new, modern O Street viaduct brought that development closer to realization. Bids for the actual construction of the new viaduct came well under preliminary estimates of costs, thus providing assurance against delay in getting started. As against the engineers' estimated cost for the proposed structure of an approximate $1,500,000, two Lincoln firms submitted a low bid of $1,341,985, an approximate $150,000 under the estimated cost.

The present structure—unsightly, antiquated, and recognized generally as a traffic hazard—reaches back to that period before the turn of the century. On January 24, 1893, Lincoln's City Council by ordinance directed the construction of a viaduct stretching from 8th to 3rd Streets as a safety measure against the hazards of expanding railroad yards. The contract was let early in 1893 at a cost of $116,341.06. A year later the work was completed and accepted by the city. The present structure, of course was built before anyone envisioned the automobile age. First use of the viaduct facilities was by horse-drawn rigs. It is a very revealing sense, replacement of a viaduct which served Nebraskans and particularly the people of Lincoln for considerably more than half a century furnishes a close-up of the changes that have come in American life. The old structure was built for a little more than $100,000. The new will cost a little more than a million. It is not only the added costs of materials and labor—which have risen greatly in 60 years—but today in connection with overpass construction, which must meet more exacting requirements, architectural design is pleasing to the eye, attractive and appealing, in every sense representative of the great strides that have been made in building.

Today any viaduct to be constructed must meet new and heavy burdens. The new O Street structure will provide a four-lane divided highway—two 26-foot roadways with a four-foot median separating them and four-foot sidewalks on both sides. There will also be 18-foot service roads on each side of the viaduct to service business houses on the street.

It has been a long pull—the continuing effort for a new viaduct to replace the old O Street structure. There have been years of discussion—delays and temporary disappointments—but now it appears that hopes are to be realized. The new viaduct should provide a sightliness to one of the most important entrances leading into the Nebraska capital. The old viaduct has been an eyesore for years, with all the makeshift repairs that have extended its life of usefulness. More important still is the element of safety which the new structure will provide, and which was becoming a matter of increasing concern. The natural growth of a city goes on and on, largely unobserved, but the people of Lincoln have every sound reason for satisfaction in two directions. One is the new viaduct which will become a reality now before too many months. The other is the gratifying progress which is being made in connection with an expanded water supply. Here before winter sets in in deadly earnest the huge job involved in the 48-inch pipeline leading from Ashland to Lincoln has been brought to virtual completion without delay that easily could have been anticipated. This 22-mile-long conduit which will add millions of gallons daily to Lincoln's water supply is in place with the exception of an approximate half-mile area. The deadline for that work when the contract was let was early next spring. Thanks to a very competent contractor who has pushed ahead energetically and to a fortunate break in weather, it appears that the job can be completed weeks in advance of the required time.

Here are two developments in which the people of Lincoln may take a measure of pride. Each is important to the community; it means a great deal in terms of progress.

The LaFollette-Monroe plan for congressional reorganization, adopted some years ago, reducing the number of standing committees and paving the way for other reforms in procedure, was a genuine contribution to improved legislative methods. But it did not have the temerity to deal with this matter of seniority, although for years developments have suggested that both houses of Congress give thought to seniority. We hazard a guess that had the Congressional Reorganization Act undertaken to abandon seniority or to reshape it, the act itself would have been rejected.

Now, it is of small consequence whether Mrs. Abel resigns or decides to complete the term to which she was elected. Press dispatches said Mrs. Abel would resign three days in advance of the 84th Congress. In her brief service, Mrs. Abel cast one important vote, a vote which naturally involved unpleasantness. She favored the resolution of condemnation of Joe McCarthy. Mr. Curtis' desire for tenure, we assume, might have gained added days of service in the Senate had he pleaded with Mrs. Abel to resign in order to permit him to listen to the debate and to cast a vote in connection with the McCarthy condemnation resolution.

Some day Congress may get around to doing something about all this matter of seniority, particularly where it concerns members in their advanced years, but the public would be well advised not to hold its breath until Congress acts.

department of Cornell University which has concluded that so long as auto drivers seem unable by personal resolution to achieve traffic safety—so long as the mountain will not come to Mahomet—then perhaps it would help to have Mahomet go to the mountain.

Cornell is referring to personal safety devices, light shock-proof helmets, plastic chest protectors and safety belts.

In its experiments thus far Cornell has found that comfortable and inexpensive devices reduce traffic fatalities 50 per cent while greatly lightening lesser personal injuries.

Some may be reluctant to dress like space men before taking to the highways, but it is a matter of prudence and general acceptance. Soldiers do it, steelworkers do it, airplane pilots both dress protectively and carry parachutes. Football players wear pads to protect themselves and don helmets. The spectating public notes that with satisfaction. The calculated risk calls for whatever it takes to reduce the odds.

At least personal protective devices form a field in traffic safety that has not been properly explored and so long as laws and appeals and licensing have demonstrated not quite enough wallop to wage a successful or even a break-even war in behalf of safety then mechanical protectors are entitled to a try. Perhaps between all of those things safety percentages will rise to a high enough level that residual risk can be successfully attacked.

On Dr. Benson

A news story notes that the biennial report of the State Agriculture Department showed that October, 1954, index of prices received by Nebraska farmers was the lowest since 1950.

That is not a very bullish report when it is recalled that it is quite below 1953 when Nebraska's farm cash income amounted to $1,119,117,000 which in turn was $67,000,000 below the 1951 high.

Despite a charitable effort out in the Plains States to go along with Secretary Benson's reformed farm economy one is too disturbingly reminded of the story of the surgeon who performed an operation that was wonderfully successful albeit the patient died.

Editorial Of The Day

On Measuring Scandal
(From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

By what scale are scandals in government to be measured? How do you assess which is "worse," which is "not so bad," which is the worst of all?

Anybody who gives much thought to these questions will be persuaded, we suspect, that there just isn't any reliable calibration of the degrees of iniquity in public corruption. The safest rule is that all governmental scandals are bad, that the worse and the not-so-worse among them should be rooted out with equal zeal.

So it is hard to take seriously the "your scandal-was-worse-than-our-scandal" dispute which seems to have entered into the writing of a Senate Banking Committee report on the FHA windfall-profits investigation. Republicans on the committee wanted to report to Congress that this FHA scandal was the worst in history, including that of Teapot Dome, but the Democrats balked at signing until this phrase was taken out. Anybody is entitled to his own guess as to how the FHA and the Teapot Dome scandals would compare on his private scale of offensiveness, but no comparison is really necessary. Any corruption in either case was too much. If the Banking Committee has scandal to report why not simply report it, without speculation as to the relative standing of other scandals?

Rayburn Out-Of-Place In Ike's Conference

WASHINGTON—The President's conference with Democratic leaders was just as harmonious as described in the newspapers except for one small point which few knew about except Ike himself.

When Speaker-to-be Sam Rayburn got word that he was to come all the way from Texas to Washington just for one day, he telephoned his fellow Texan, Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

"Is there any reason why I should make that long trip?" he asked, and went on to point out that Eisenhower already knew he could depend on the Democrats regarding national defense and foreign policy; and that legislation must be moulded by committee chairmen, not by the speaker.

Senator Johnson, who was educated by Rayburn in the House of Representatives, agreed. But he said there wasn't much he could do about it.

So Rayburn called the White House direct.

It's the committee chairmen who work out legislation, not me," he told the President, and explained that chairmen of committees were sometimes a power unto themselves. Therefore it was far better for the chairmen to confer with the President rather than the speaker. He insisted that Rayburn make the trip.

So, Mr. Sam, who does not like to fly, got on the train in Dallas and took the long trip to Washington. Then, one day after the White House conference, he turned round and took the train back. For Rayburn, a bachelor, wouldn't think of not spending Christmas at home with his sisters. Furthermore, Sam had to pay for the trip out of his own pocket. Though summoned to Washington by Eisenhower, he, not the government, pays his travel expense. And congressmen's salaries are inexorably low.

JOHNSON REMINDS

All this was one reason why Senator Johnson, during the two-hour White House meeting, told Eisenhower that it wasn't much use to talk about certain subjects without the committee chairmen present.

"We are talking about finances, which are handled by Harry Byrd and Jere Cooper," Johnson reminded. "But they're not here."

Eisenhower agreed that they should be consulted, but said his departmental heads would hold conferences with the committee chairmen later.

Eisenhower himself remained in the two-hour conference only briefly. After a gracious opening statement in which he handled himself well, he left the room, then came back from time to time to see how things were progressing.

At one time when a chart was being shown, Congressman Clarence Cannon, who comes from the Mark Twain-Huckleberry Finn district of Missouri and is chairman of the appropriations committee, was not able to read the figures. He had forgotten his glasses. So White House aides read them aloud.

His eyesight was so bad that, when he left, he picked up the overcoat of Sen. Hayden of Arizona by mistake.

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

Bertram Goodhue in designing the Nebraska Capitol showed vision that has won world acclaim, but he failed to envision that men of later days would become as conscious of their crowning glory as the women of his day with their "100 brush strokes nightly."

The blemishing effects of the modern male's hair "stic kum" may be common knowledge to the housewife, but its effect remained unknown in the capitol until Supt. John Knickrehm started housecleaning the governor's suite.

Room by room the capitol is undergoing the first refurbishing since its erection. Woodwork is being cleaned and re-varnished and polished. But when the walnut paneling in the governor's reception room was reached, it was found that oil from men's heads had soaked into the wood so that the stain could not be removed. Bench seats around the room have dark spots about them at the height of a man's head.

A plaintive story came to the Sower's ears from the wife of one of the employees at the state penitentiary. "Why can't people understand that we are a little city of 1,000 population with all of the possibilities of wrong-doing of any city and a goodly number of innocent, God-fearing people?" she inquired.

She went on to picture the sacrifices made by wives and children of employees who live within the walls. "We knew we would have to make social sacrifices when we took the work—honest work. Friends do not like to make social calls when it is necessary to pass through steel-barred doors. "We find ourselves soon dropped from the social planning of our acquaintances."

EXTENDING FREE TRADE

One point which concerned the Democrats—who are strong for national defense—was that when they studied the budget figures presented by Budget Director Hughes, they could not find the five billion extra requested by Secretary of Defense Wilson. Democratic leaders side with Wilson and against economy-minded George Humphrey on this item. They were suspicious when they couldn't find the five billion in the budget.

Clarence Randall, president of Inland Steel and head of the president's advisory committee on foreign trade, made an excellent impression when he pressed plans for renewing the reciprocal trade act.

"Would a one-year extension of this act make for indefiniteness in trade?" Speaker Rayburn asked.

"It certainly would," replied Randall, and explained how business has to plan several years ahead. Democrats, who passed the reciprocal trade act in the first place will push to extend it for another three years.

GREENSPUN INDICTMENT

One of the most interesting legal straws in the McCarthy political wind comes up next week in Nevada when U.S. Judge John R. Ross will rule on a motion to dismiss the indictment of Editor Hank Greenspun for allegedly endangering the life of Joe McCarthy by stating that he was likely "to come to a violent end."

The indictment was brought when McCarthy was basking in the benign smile of the White House. The dismissal will be passed upon next week when that smile has vanished.

The indictment has considerable ramifications. Greenspun, editor and publisher of the Las Vegas Sun, had hurled charges at McCarthy which no other newspaper had printed. But he was not indicted for these charges. What happened was that McCarthy sent to the post office department a particular column which contained the words: "Joe has to come to a violent end. Live by the sword and die by the sword. Destroy people, and they in turn must destroy you."

McCarthy suggested to his friend Postmaster General Summerfield, that, in view of this alleged incitement to assassinate, Greenspun's second-class mailing privileges should be canceled. But Summerfield referred the matter to the Justice Department, which much to the surprise of everyone—including, it was reported, McCarthy—indicted Greenspun.

The same column, however, contained a repetition of Greenspun's earlier charges that McCarthy was a "pervert," made repeatedly by the Sun and mailed all over the United States, though McCarthy had never sued. This was made a part of the court record, thereby making it privileged. Since then it has been published to Time Magazine and various newspapers.

So the Justice Department, instead of doing McCarthy a favor of prosecuting Greenspun, may have done the reverse.

All this is why a lot of people will be watching Judge Ross's ruling next week.

Stories Of Famous Hymns

As With Gladness Men Of Old

As with gladness men of old
Did the guiding star behold;
As with joy that hailed its light,
Leading onward, beaming bright;
So, most gracious Lord, may we Evermore be led to Thee.

As with joyful steps they sped
To that lowly manger bed,
There to bend the knee before
Him whom heaven and earth adore;
So may we with willing feet
Ever seek Thy mercy seat.

Holy Jesus, every day
Keep us in the narrow way;
And, when earthly things are past,
Bring our ransomed souls at last
Where they need no star to guide,
Where no clouds Thy glory hide.

By HORACE B. POWELL

The Christian Church has had some great and gifted lay poets and when they are being counted, the name of William Chatterton Dix must always be remembered.

Mr. Dix, a native of Bristol, England, was only 23 years old when, one day in 1850, he finished his beautiful Epiphany hymn, "As With Gladness Men Of Old." It was written while its author was recovering from a critical illness.

At first, the new song appeared in a small private collection entitled "Hymns Of Love And Joy" but not long afterward it was given a place of honor in "Hymns Ancient And Modern," the Church of England hymnal. Mr. Dix was manager of a marine insurance firm in Glasgow, Scotland, but in his leisure hours he found time to write some of the hymns most precious to Christians of his own day and of ours. "Come Unto Me, Ye Weary" is one of these. The songs, "Hallelujah! Sing To Jesus" and "Beauteous Are The Flowers Of Earth" also are from his pen.

In all, he wrote 20 or 30 hymns, some of which he published in his "Hymns Of Love And Joy" collection, and some in a later volume of "Altar Songs."

An Error

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Among the sheets of data being distributed at meetings by our worthy school board and school superintendent in support of the proposed $10 million school bond issue is one that contains a glaring and misleading error. This sheet states that the cost of retiring the bonds in 20 years at 2 per cent interest, based on the 1954 assessed valuation of the school district, will add only $5 per year to the tax burden of the owner of a property valued at $5,000 and assessed at $2,500 for taxation; only $7.50 per year for a $7,500 property, and only $10 per year for a $10,000 property. These are the increases that an additional levy of only two mills would raise. The fact that such a levy on the 1954 school district assessed valuation of $143,252,893 would raise less than $290,000, whereas one-twentieth of $10 million is $500,000 and the first year's interest at 2 per cent would be $200,000, shows the absurdity of the above statement.

Actually the additional tax payments given are less than one-half of what the real addition to the tax burden will be. The average yearly payment of over $600,000 for 20 years will be required to pay off the bonds. On the basis of the present assessed valuation, to raise this amount will call for an increase of approximately 4 1/2 mills a year in the school tax levy, or an added tax of $10.62 on a $5,000 property, $15.93 on a $7,500 property, and $21.35 on a $10,000 property each year for a period of 20 years.

It is regrettable, to say the least, that the consideration of this data presented by Supt. Watkins to the closed meeting of the two chamber of commerce committees that jointly recommended that the board of directors endorse the proposed bond issue was so cursory and uncritical that not one member of even the taxation committee detected and pointed out this gravely misleading error regarding such a highly important bond and tax question.

The Good And Bad

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am a man from out of the state but would like to express my views about how some people feel about a political party. My honest conviction is that there are good people and some not so good in both parties.

I can go along in part with Mr. Matthews' ideas which appeared in this paper on Dec. 16. But let it be remembered that under Wilson we had World War I and under Roosevelt, World War II. And under Truman, what could be called World War III. Now, let us remember that under Grover Cleveland, a Democrat, in 1912 there was a depression and many farmers lost their farms. I was paying 6 per cent interest on the mortgage, selling oats for 13 cents a bushel, and eggs for 8 cents a dozen. When Teddy Roosevelt was President, Wall Street started a depression and it was stopped in a very short time. He was a Republican. Six months before Hoover's term expired, he tried hard to put the Reconstruction Finance Corporation into effect and was fought down on it by a Democratic bloc in Congress, as I remember it. Six months after Roosevelt was elected, it was put through.

I will say for Roosevelt he did a lot for organized labor. Also, after promising the mothers of our land not to send their sons into war, he did send them. So far as President Truman is concerned, in all of my more than 70 years of living in the good old U.S.A., I have never seen fore or since heard a President use so much unbecoming language as he did.

Please let us remember there are good and there are bad in all parties.

IRA ECKHART

Editor's Note: It was the late President William Howard Taft who was president in 1912, the year the late Woodrow Wilson was elected to succeed him. Grover Cleveland served earlier.

To Be Morning Bride

MISS MARJORIE MORAN whose marriage to Richard Walsh will be solemnized at a 10 o'clock ceremony at St. Teresa Church this morning.

Lighted cathedral candles and arrangements of white chrysanthemums will appoint the altar, and pink and white gladioli will form the chancel decor at St. Teresa's Church where the wedding of Miss Marjorie Marie Moran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Francis Moran, to Richard George Walsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Walsh of Bradshaw, will be solemnized on Saturday morning, Dec. 18.

The 10 o'clock ceremony will be solemnized by the Rev. M. M. Kaczmarek, and Miss Mildred Gergen, organist, will play the wedding music and also accompany Louis Demma, the vocal soloist.

Frosted pink satin has been chosen for the costumes of the attendants, including Miss Mary Jane McCullough of Brady, who will be her cousin's maid of honor; Miss Carroll Ann Griffin, also a cousin of the bride, and Miss Deanne Walsh of Bradshaw, sister of the bridegroom, who will be the bridesmaids. The frocks are designed with bare-shouldered bodices, contoured with triple folds of satin petals, which narrow to slender waists above bouffant waltz-length skirts created of satin which falls, apron fashion, over flounces of nylon tulle on pale pink petticoats. Their costumes are completed with brief bolero jackets in which bracelet-length sleeves are finished with circle cuffs of satin and tulle. Their colonial bouquets are of white stephanotis centered with pink roses. Joan McCullough, wearing a frock styled identically to the other attendants, is the flower girl.

Duane Hurt of Ulysses will serve his cousin as best man, and the ushers will include Bill McCullough, Brady; Jim Curran, York, and Ron Reinmiller, Staplehurst.

The bride will appear in a blush pink gown of delustered satin, designed in the empire mode. The long-sleeved sculptured bodice has a wide V neckline deeply patterned with Chantilly lace which extends into the voluminous skirt at the back to form a train-length panel. Her double-tiered shoulder length veil of blush pink illusion is held to the head with a calot of pale pink satin, and she will carry a colonial bouquet of stephanotis and pale pink roses centered with white orchids.

Mr. Walsh and his bride will honeymoon in Mexico City and Acapulco, and upon their return to Lincoln will reside at 1912 Washington St. For traveling the bride is wearing an Italian boucle suit in the brown tone, with black braid trim.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Chi Omega sorority, Phi Beta Kappa, Theta Sigma Phi, Kappa Tau Alpha, Alpha Lambda Delta, and Gamma Alpha Chi.

Mr. Walsh also was graduated from the University of Nebraska, and had graduate study at the University of Chicago. He now has been released from the service following a two year tour of Navy duty in the Far East, and will complete work on his Master's Degree in June. He currently is research assistant on the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture staff.

On Thursday Mrs. Paul Schoenleber went to Omaha to meet Lt. Schoenleber who had just returned from a tour of duty in Japan and Formosa. Lt. and Mrs. Schoenleber will spend the holidays in Lincoln with Mrs. Schoenleber's mother, Mrs. Al Williams, and Lt. Schoenleber's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Schoenleber, and then will go to Olathe, Kan., where the Air Force officer will be stationed.

Arriving in Lincoln Wednesday evening to spend the holidays was Mrs. F. R. Wheeler of Bartlesville, Okla., who is visiting her daughters and their families, Mrs. K. H. Longman, Mr. Longman, Kenneth, Jr., Arthur and Douglas, and Mrs. Bob Ring. Mr. Ring, Bobby, Barbara and Diane. Mr. Wheeler will arrive next Thursday to complete the family group and will accompany Mrs. Wheeler home after Christmas.

Mrs. Ann W. Kelso will leave early next week for Pacific Palisades, Calif., where she will be the Christmas guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Kelso and their family. From Pacific Palisades Mrs. Kelso will go to Palo Alto, Calif., for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Linder, formerly of Lincoln, and also her granddaughter, Miss Sue Ann Tappan of Omaha who is attending Stanford University.

AROUND THE TOWN Plans Spring Wedding

LINCOLN does have its moments of basking in reflected glory—Take the current issue of "The Instructor," for instance—Turn the pages in a leisurely fashion and you'll find a by-line that will stop you dead in your tracks—It belongs to Arnett Folsom who, on one of his trips to Atlantic City promised to do the piece for the magazine—and we must say he did an excellent piece of work—You also will see a picture of the author, Mrs. Folsom, and the family pet—a handsome Collie—Take a look.

SOME TIME ago we mentioned Augusta French, a former Lincoln resident—a former student at the University of Nebraska, and a niece of Arthur H. Ware of Lincoln—We knew that Miss French—or Mrs. Allen Nourse, as she is known in private life—was in the theater, but we didn't know until just now how extensive her work in the drama really was—

We hear that she and Mr. Nourse have just completed an (as yet untitled) documentary motion picture produced by Affiliated Film Producers located in New York City.

Between them Miss French and her husband have appeared in well over a dozen New York stage productions and have been seen on most of the major New York television programs such as Kraft, Big Story, Man Against Crime, Armstrong Circle Theater, Philco Television Theater, and the Robert Montgomery show—to name a few.

Mr. Nourse, prior to work on the recently completed motion picture, had just returned to New York from Hollywood where he made his fourth feature-length film for Columbia Pictures.

During the past summer Miss French played with Victor Jory in "My Three Angels."

WE hear that this is to be an extremely Merry Christmas for Mr. and Mrs. Randy W. Ewing—their son, Joel Berge Ewing, arrived at St. Elizabeth Hospital on Thursday, Dec. 16. Young Joel's mother is the former Pat Berge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Berge of Norfolk, who is a Gamma Phi Beta at the University of Nebraska where she also was named Honorary Commandant. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and spending the holidays in the east.

Soon after Mr. and Mrs. Hamann return to Lincoln Mr. Hamann will leave for his basic training at Ft. Bliss, Tex. During his absence Mrs. Hamann and her daughter, Lynn, will be the guests of her parents in Beatrice.

Miss Lynn Hamann, by the way, will be the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hamann, while her parents are away.

THEN we learned that Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kimmel and Mr.

FOR SOME of the young crowd Friday night was quite a festive evening—The group involved was the ninth grade class at Irving Junior High School who had a dancing party in the Georgian Room at Hotel Cornhusker.

The hosts and hostesses for the affair included Roberta Donley, Sandie Dudley, Sandi Johnson, Glenda Luff, Barbara Tanner, Janice Hoyer, Ann Muehlbeier, Ann Sheldon, Nancy Stefanisin, Susan Heggen, Sharon Anderson, Gene Tice, Al Murdy, Jim Frank, Bernie Yost, Mark Sorenson, Brian Binning, Kenneth Rodney, Bruce Anderson, Neal Higgins, Gary Gibson, Jan Grierson.

Chaperones for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Ross Luff, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hoyer, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. John Amerman, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Binning and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Tanner.

NOW it's time to pen the guest book which seems to be brimming this morning—First we heard that Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sichel, Jr., and their daughter, Suzanne, will be arriving from Saratoga, Calif., next Tuesday for a visit with Mr. Sichel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Sichel.

Mr. and Mrs. Sichel and their daughter will be joined in Lincoln for the holidays by their son and brother, Edward Sichel, III, who is attending Lake Forest Academy, Lake Forest, Ill.—and who, as a matter of fact, arrived in Lincoln Thursday evening.

NEXT Wednesday's arrivals will include Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Lloyd of Phoenix, Ariz., who will spend the holidays as the house guests of Mrs. Lloyd's mother, Mrs. C. W. Sanford.

ALSO arriving next week to spend the Christmas season in Lincoln are Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Olson and their two children, Christy and Kurt, who come from Chicago next Tuesday—at least Mrs. Olson and the children will arrive on Tuesday, and will be joined here on Christmas eve by Mrs. Olson.

During their stay in Lincoln Mr. and Mrs. Olson and their family will be the guests of Mrs. Olson's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Davie.

Christmas Luncheon

The Plainview Extension Club met Thursday, Dec. 9th at the home of Mrs. Eugene Kolder for a Christmas luncheon and gift exchange. The club presented Mrs. Lee Hunt who was ill, a Christmas plant. Two former members, Mrs. Howard Hanson and Mrs. Harlin Wilson, also were present. Following the dinner and gift exchange, carols were sung.

Double E Club

The Double E Extension Club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Chester Rung for its annual Christmas luncheon and gift exchange. Mrs. Margerite Warner, Mrs. Chris Madsen and Mrs. Pete Lerdall gave Christmas readings.

Club Revels At 'Reindeer Revel'

Assisting Mrs. Flory as hostesses were her daughters, Mrs. Alfred Sward and Mrs. Norman Lutz.

Included among the recent bridal courtesies honoring Miss Lucille Edstrom, whose marriage to Vernon D. Griess of Lushton will take place on Sunday, Dec. 19, was the party at which Miss Joyce Swanson and Miss Rogene Swanson entertained on Tuesday, Dec. 7, at their home. # Army Criticized: Methods Of Acquiring Land Hit

Too Many Court
Cases Says Group

A suggestion that Army Engineers need to improve their methods of acquiring land needed for Missouri Basin reservoirs came Friday from a committee which has been studying the matter.

In substance, the committee held that the Army is having to go to court in condemnation proceedings in too many cases, and that the "willing buyer - willing seller" concept used as the basis for appraisal is not adequate.

The study was made by a sub-committee representing the coordinating committees for Missouri Basin development. The sub-committee included Kris Kristjanson, Clyde Noyes and John Muehlbeier of the University of Nebraska, and Clarence Shanley and Joe Hill of South Dakota State College.

Review Projects
The study involved land purchases at the Gavins Point Reservoir on the Nebraska-South Dakota border, but experience at other projects also was reviewed.

An estimated 5,000 families are being displaced to make room for Missouri Basin development projects.

Army engineers usually condemn around 25 per cent of the tracts they seek to acquire. Court awards run higher than the Army engineer appraisals. In the Fort Randall area the court awards average 56 per cent above the Army appraisals, the sub-committee said.

Land Acquisition
The report contends that the land acquisition experience of TVA and the Bureau of Reclamation is more satisfactory. The TVA, for example, acquired about 20,000 tracts of land with less than a three per cent condemnation rate.

The committee criticized the "willing buyer-willing seller" concept for not placing enough weight on the increased price which displaced landowners must pay when they are forced to compete with each other for replacement. It does not allow for other costs and risks.

TVA Approach Different
The concept is based on the "unrealistic assumption that there are larger numbers of buyers and sellers in a given market," the report said.

TVA, using a different approach, pays the owner an amount sufficient to buy comparable property and takes into account costs and risks that fall on displaced families.

The committee recommended that appraisals be made by a board of three persons—one selected by the landowner, another by the acquiring agency, and a third selected by the first two board members. This board would be instructed to appraise on the basis of what it would cost displaced landowners to get comparable property.

Northeast Breezes In Home Opener

...Columbus Hit, 57-40

By RON GIBSON

Star Sports Staff Member

Columbus High, tenacious until the third quarter, couldn't stop all Northeast's big scorers and lost a 57-40 basketball decision on the Rocket floor Friday night.

Duane Strandberg, Rudy Stoehr and Wayne Hester were the big scorers for Northeast. But the pressing Rocket defense was the real difference between the two teams.

When the Rockets squeezed off most of the Columbus scoring opportunities in the first half the visitors became flustered and managed only two field goals in the second half.

Strandberg, Larry Bryant and Dee Haas were key men in the tight defense which turned every Discoverer mistake into a Northeast scoring opportunity.

Accurate In Post
Strandberg was consistently accurate from the post and finished with 17 points. He did a fair defensive job on 6-foot 5-inch LeRoy Hulsebus, the Columbus sophomore who looks like a good prospect for future delivery.

Another player with a future, Wayne Hester of Northeast, started the pullaway in the third quarter.

Northeast had a 30-21 halftime lead that looked none too solvent, with Byron Spiece and Hulsebus hitting well for Columbus.

Hester's basket from the key-hole started the Northeast surge and Strandberg kept it going with a pair of free throws and a jump-shot field goal.

Sew It Up
Columbus was caught traveling, Northeast took the ball out of bounds and Bill Lundy flashed in for a layup. Two free throws by Haas and a basket by Strandberg made the score 42-25 for the Rockets with less than two minutes left in the third period. That sewed up Northeast's first home game of the season and its third win in four starts.

Stoehr's good outshooting took up the slack left when Hester missed occasionally, and Strandberg was deadly with an assortment of hooks and turn shots from inside and out.

Northeast won the reserve game, 49-20, as Don Peterson scored 10 points.

Cathedral 'Birds Fall To Bonnies

...Lose, 56-51

Lincoln Star Special

COLUMBUS—Lincoln Cathedral came close, but not close enough to St. Bonaventure Friday night, losing a close basketball game, 56-51.

Late in the final quarter, the Bluebirds trailed only 49-51, but a quick burst by Bonnie aces Ed Kavanaugh and Speed Moschenroff provided the hosts with the winning margin.

Kavanaugh and Moschenroff gave the 'Birds trouble all evening with their fine play-making and shooting. Moschenroff was the only senior in the Bonnie starting lineup, the other four being juniors.

Cathedral's second-stringers did most of the scoring, taking a bit of glory away from the first stringers. Bob Sullivan, Jim Cripe and Mike Cowan hit 20 points between them.

Bluebird star Bill Hoeppner was hampered by an injured hand and managed to hit only four points. Al Parks reinjured his knee at the start of the third quarter and was forced to sit out the remainder of the contest, thus weakening the Lincoln crew's lineup.

Moschenroff and Kavanaugh led the scoring with 15 points apiece for the Bonnies. Bob Everett scored 10 for Cathedral, six of the points coming on three spectacular hook shots.

Cripe was an effective rebounder throughout the game and helped keep the visitors in the contest until the final minutes.

Coach Is Not Worrying About Prospect Of Being Outweighed

By HOWARD CRISWELL JR.

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—When Duke faces Nebraska in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., New Year's Day, Blue Devil Coach Bill Murray will field what he says may have been "the lightest line in major college football" this season.

The prospect of being outweighed by the Cornhusker line apparently doesn't bother Murray, who has no ready explanation for his line that averages about 187 pounds. The linemen didn't lose weight during the season, Murray explains, "They just happen to be the best boys."

"Our line was battered up about the middle of the season. We had some injuries and it slowed us down. But the line is in good shape now," he adds.

Gave Away Weight
The Blue Devils gave away weight in the line throughout the season. The results didn't always leave Murray with his characteristic grin. The major damage was done by the service schools. Army licked Duke, 28-14. Three weeks later at Norfolk, Va., Navy all but threw the Blue Devils out of the Oyster Bowl, winning, 40-7.

But it was from this defeat that Murray marshaled his forces. Duke won its last three games, over Wake Forest, South Carolina and North Carolina, all Atlantic Coast Conference foes. The 47-12 victory over North Carolina left the Blue Devils with a 7-2 record and resulted in the Orange Bowl bid.

Familiar Name
There will be a familiar name in the starting line against Nebraska. He will be tackle Doug Knotts, a 193-pound junior from Albemarle, N. C. He has three brothers who preceded him as Duke linemen and all were guards.

The Duke line is almost feather-like on the flanks held down by Tracy Moon, 158, and Sonny Sorrell, 178. Of them Murray says, "I don't know anybody as light playing first string in college football." Both are "good pass catchers," Murray says, "who handle themselves well." Moon caught three passes during the season for two touchdowns and Sorrell four passes for one touchdown.

Jitterbug Jerry
The prize Duke possession is jitterbug quarterback Jerry Barger, the team captain and generally considered the spark in the Blue Devils' attack.

Against Georgia Tech, Duke trailed 20-0 with only 17 minutes remaining. Suddenly Duke came alive, scored three times, made good the extra points, and won 21-20. Most observers, including Murray, credit Barger with putting the plug in the Duke socket.

Barger will be spelled in the Orange Bowl by Sonny Jurgensen, a 202-pound sophomore triple threat. He threw 27 passes this season, completing 12, one for a touchdown.

Bigger Than Barger
"Jurgensen is bigger than Barger," Murray says. "He's the stronger passer of the two, but not as good as Barger on the short passes," Murray concedes.

YORK—Bob Harry eliminated all doubt that his football-injured knee was in top shape Friday night as he pumped in 19 points to lead the Dukes in a 55-31 win over Aurora.

Don Jensen, the York sparkplug, got 16 points. York's outshooters went to work early and the Dukes were out of the woods at the end of the first quarter.

Aurora's Walter and Nuss scored eight points apiece.

Offense Drills Receive Attention Of Huskers

By DON BRYANT

Sports Editor, The Star

Friday was another routine day at the University of Nebraska Field House. Offensive fundamentals—Coach Bill Glassford's favorite weapon—again marked the heavy inside drill as the Huskers continued preparations for their Orange Bowl date with Duke.

"We are breaking down all phases of our attack and concentrating on each individual," Glassford said.

By way of explaining what he meant, the Cornhusker coach said the backs are drilled on handoffs, dives, counters and pitches, while linemen are drilled on blocking assignments.

Monday the team will begin moulding its defenses for Duke in the same fashion, with both the ground and aerial defenses getting equal attention.

No new injuries have cropped up. End Dean Lux, hobbled by an ankle twist, is improving and attends practice as a spectator.

No. 2 Fullback John Edwards, who got a thorough bruising on the first day of practice, is working out full speed, despite some soreness.

Orangemen Score Win Over 'Jays

SEWARD—Beatrice survived a last quarter comeback by Seward here Friday night to notch its third straight victory, a 52-48 decision over the Bluejays.

The visiting Orangemen stacked a 10-point lead early in the fourth quarter, but it had shrunk to a lone point, 49-48, with 47 seconds to play.

Ron Svoboda's free throw with 36 seconds left, boosted the margin to 50-48 and following a successful stalling game, Jon Appleget scored with three seconds to go.

Center Max Martz led the Orangemen scoring with 12 followed by Appleget and Bob Eyth with 10 each.

Fred Daake, 6-4½ Seward center, counted 19 for the losing Bluejays.

Bradley First N.U. Foe On 3-Game Cage Trip

Alabama, Memphis State Complete Schedule; Eleven Players On Squad, No Starters Named

Eleven Nebraska basketball players headed east and south for a three-game pre-holiday series, Friday night.

Coach Jerry Bush has been encouraged by the improvement in the Husker squad as they begin their first long road trip of the year. The Huskers meet Bradley at Peoria, Ill., Saturday night, Alabama at Tuscaloosa, Monday night and Memphis State at Memphis, Wednesday night.

Coach Bush has no starting lineup. He opens with the players he believes will do best against a particular foe.

The players making the trip include Norman Coufal, David City; Doug Gibson, Falls City; Stanley Matzke, Lincoln; Bill Wells, West Baden, Ind.; Charles Smith, Anderson, Ind.; Willard Fagler, Harvard; Rex Ekwall, Holmesville; Duane Scell, Malcolm; Gary Renzelman, Scottsbluff; Bill Roy, Berwyn, Ill.; Arnold Boich, Peoria, Ill.

The Huskers have a 1-1 record, having lost to the State University of Iowa and winning from the University of South Dakota.

The Huskers were flitting with their home court record when they turned back South Dakota 87-51. Nebraska ran up 93 points in defeating Harvard here in 1953.

Chuck Smith, junior who has sufficient spring in his legs to jump and dunk, is the leading scorer in the first two contests with 33 points. Rex Ekwall, sophomore, is but three points back. Ekwall, who shows every indication of being one of Nebraska's top basketballers when he has a bit more experience, leads in the rebound department with a total of 27.

Nebraska's next competition after the pre-holiday trip is the Big Seven tournament at Kansas City, Dec. 27-30. The Cornhuskers meet the Big Seven's hottest team, the University of Missouri, in the first round.

Baker Winner Over Wallace In 10-Rounder

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Baker, No. 4 ranking heavyweight contender, battered Coley Wallace's face out of shape but couldn't drop the Joe Louis movie "stand-in" Friday night while winning a unanimous decision in a 10-round match at Madison Square Garden. Baker weighed 211, Wallace 202.

Only in the fourth round when Wallace shook up Baker with a solid left hook and followed with two or three solid right hand punches was the New Yorker a real threat.

Big Bob, the Pittsburgh giant who had beaten Wallace in the 1949 Golden Gloves and also in a pro bout at Cleveland, Oct. 1, rocked Wallace several times but couldn't knock him down.

Housing Facilities For Minorities Is A Major Problem, NAHB Head Says

Housing facilities for minority groups is one of two major problems facing the home building industry, according to R. G. (Dick) Hughes, president of the National Association of Home Builders.

The Pampa, Tex., housing expert predicted that if builders across the nation neglect the Negro housing problem Congress will, within the next two years, adopt legislation on the matter. This legislation, he said, would blacklist any builder from VA or FHA loan facilities if he refused to sell to a Negro.

Refusal to sell under such legislation, he predicted, would also carry a penalty of a $10,000 fine and or 10 years in prison.

To avert his predictions of things to come, the NAHB president advocated a five point program as follows:

1. Builders to devote 10 per cent of their activity to providing housing for the nation's 10 per cent Negro population.

2. Lending agencies to set aside 10 per cent of their new mortgage money for financing of Negro housing.

3. Community efforts to make attractive building sites available for Negro housing.

4. Encourage Negro contractors to provide needed housing and Negro insurance companies to buy up mortgages on Negro home loans.

5. Request the VA and FHA not to discriminate against Negroes.

Hughes presented as his second problem facing the home building industry the provision of adequate community facilities such as streets, sewers, paving, schools, etc.

On the overall housing picture, Hughes stated that families in the market for new homes have the best housing opportunities in the past 20 years.

The new housing laws, he asserted, are tailor made to provide homes for persons who never before dreamed of owning their own home. The new housing bill, he said, is particularly helpful to low income families and non-veteran families.

After a brief tour of Lincoln, Hughes was of the opinion that Lincoln is "most fortunate in the modern design and price of its new homes."

In Lincoln, he said, are some of the most modernistic trends found outside of California and Texas. The overall home planning in Lincoln, he said, is very impressive.

The start of some 1,800 new homes in Lincoln this year compares very favorably in quantity with cities across the nation, Hughes said.

A member of the President's special advisory committee on federal government housing policies, Hughes discussed new housing legislation at a dinner meeting of the Lincoln Home Builders Association.

General Hospitals Praised By Crosby

Gov. Robert Crosby was the principal speaker at the annual Christmas dinner held at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Gov. Crosby told more than 100 Lincoln doctors that general hospitals operated by voluntary community initiative, especially those which are church related, invariably offer the public a little more than the institution which is governmentally controlled.

Dr. George H. Misko, president of the staff, presided over the dinner.

Sanitary District, City To Plan Bills

A meeting of city and Sanitary District 1 officials is planned to map out legislation to determine the authority of the two groups relative to construction of main trunk line sewers.

After determining which group should be responsible for the trunk line work, plans are to submit a bill to the Legislature to make the agreements reached binding. Present uncertainty has caused difficulties in getting needed sewer improvements under way.

Also to be discussed at the joint meeting is the possibility of establishing a charge for sewer service. If adopted by the group, this matter would also go to the Legislature.

District Attorney Max Kier has also been authorized by the Sanitary Board to prepare three other bills for the Unicameral. They are:

A bill to permit deferred assessments in sewer districts.

A bill to increase the boundaries of the district, at least to include all land within the city limits.

A bill to continue the special 1 mill district levy for construction purposes for another two years.

Two Pen Inmates Lose Freedom Try

The habeas corpus actions of two Nebraska Penitentiary inmates, who sought their freedom on the contention that the minimum terms in their indeterminate sentences had expired, have been dismissed by Lancaster District Judge Spencer.

The habeas corpus applications were made by Albert Larsen, serving a one-to-two-year term for bad checks, and Byron G. Heizer, serving a four-to-seven year term for burglary.

The inmates claimed the sentencing court was prohibited by law from imposing an indeterminate sentence on known second or third offenders.

Red Ball Route Case Is Upheld

The State Supreme Court Friday upheld the State Railway Commission's action granting full authority to Red Ball Transportation Co. for irregular route operations anywhere within the state.

The authority had been challenged by Watson Brothers Transportation Co. and Union Transfer Co. on legal technicalities.

In a Douglas County case, the court, ruled that Christine Rae McCoy, a minor, should remain in the custody of her foster father, Charles A. Boiler. Grandparents and uncles of the child had sought to obtain custody with a petition for a writ of habeas corpus but the court held the child was not being unlawfully detained by Boiler.

Juvenile Court Continues Break-In Case

The Juvenile Court cases of two teenage Lincoln boys, caught in Lowlor's hardware store with five pistols, ammunition, and $513 in their possession, have been continued two weeks.

Judge Harry Ankeny directed a further investigation of the boys' home environments and supervision be made following a hearing Friday.

The 14-year-old told the court they had broken into Lawlor's "to get some pistols," which they wanted to have "so we can shoot them around."

He said they "saw the money bag just as we were leaving the store and just picked it up."

Both youths had been involved in a break-in in August, 1953, and were placed on probation at that time.

The younger youth had been released from probation in July, but the 15-year-old is still on probation. Judge Ankeny told the youths they were fit subjects, in view of their records, for commitment to the State Industrial School at Kearney, but was deferring disposition of the cases pending further investigation.
